

~~SECRET~~

25X1A9A

DRAFT/[]:ar(9/25/69)

5. Regarding paragraphs six and eleven of reference:

25X1

25X1A2D1

25X1

[]
[] and a similar []
"Upon retirement abroad, travel and transportation expenses from the last post of assignment to the place where the employee will reside in the United States, its possessions or the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, including removal of effects from storage and delivery to the authorized destination. An employee who elects to reside elsewhere will be allowed expenses incurred not to exceed the constructive cost of direct travel and transportation from the last post of assignment to his Permanent Place of Residence as defined in []

25X1A

The definition of Permanent Place of Residence, also being published, will read:

"Permanent Place of Residence normally means the place where an employee physically dwells in the United States, its possessions, or the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico prior to a PCS transfer to a post abroad. Headquarters may approve another place as the employee's Permanent Place of Residence if the employee can establish, at the time of his request, that his physical dwelling place is transitory and temporary and such other place that he has requested is a place where he is domiciled or has previously physically dwelt. Information that can be presented in writing as evidence includes, but is not limited to, state voting registration, property ownership, and place where income or personal property taxes have been

~~SECRET~~

Excluded from automatic downgrading and declassification

25X1A2E

[] and his wife's entitlements to travel, shipment of a POV, transportation of household effects in [] ^{or} ~~and~~ elsewhere, will be determined accordingly.

25X1A6A

Under these regulations which will govern [] entitlements, reimbursement to him for his travel to Mexico can not exceed constructive costs of travel to his Permanent Place of Residence.

25X1A2E

Nonconcurrent travel for his wife would be authorized from [] but limited to constructive costs of travel to ^{his} Permanent Place of Residence. Cost of shipment of a POV, if applicable, would be limited to the appropriate port-of-entry. The costs of shipping household effects ^{wherever located,} other than those in storage, would be limited to the constructive cost of shipment of a one lot shipment from [] to ^{the} Permanent Place of Residence. [Shipment of HHE now in storage, if applicable, would be limited to constructive cost from the storage point to the Permanent Place of Residence.] Please also see the limitation in [] concerning the purchase of property enroute.

25X1A6A

25X1A6A

25X1A